

“Angeling” Lyrics

Music and Lyrics by Jean Louis Marcel Pedat aka Jay Elle (ASCAP)

She’s finally resting her wings
Wipes them clean from a day of avenging
Her robe falls to her feet
Her halo looks kind of beat
She tells me about her day
She’s on her wings all day
Angel work is hard I have to say

An angel lays down
By my side
Every night
Falls asleep
From a long day of angeling

I wake up early
She’s already guarding
Comforting
Planning retributions
A few salvations
She’ll send me a text later
If she’s going to be late for dinner
Her boss is quite the task master

An angel lays down

By my side
Every night
Falls asleep
From a long day of angeling

She hasn't had the seventh day off
Since I met her
Maybe her boss
Will give her
The afternoon off
She could use the break
I will take her to the matinee of heaven can wait

An angel lays down
By my side
Every night
Falls asleep
From a long day of angeling
From a long day of angeling
