

"Sapphire" Lyrics

Music and Lyrics by Jean Louis Marcel Pedat aka Jay Elle (ASCAP)

Published by Jean Louis Pedat Music (ASCAP)

There's no Penelope
She's a man's fantasy
Man's fantasy
Neglect is serious reality
Absence is a tragedy
Tragedy

Should I recite to you
The perils of being alone
When she's left on her own
If she's so precious to your eyes
Always keep her
Sapphire

Memory washed by the tide
Sometimes carried back to shore
Back to shore
You try to be soft and fun
But when you're miles away
You know she's lost

She's strong but emotions collide
You're too far to chase her doubts

When she's left on her own
If she's so precious to your eyes
Always keep her

Sapphire

If she's so precious to your eyes
Always keep her

Sapphire

Who could be happy with just a fantasy

Time doesn't take sides

Once you're out of sight

Wow

Should I recite to you

The perils of being alone

When she's left on her own

If she's so precious to your eyes

Always keep her

Sapphire

If she's so precious to your eyes

Always keep her

Sapphire

Always keep her

Sapphire