Sometimes I feel like I’m losing my mind
Maybe I’m just losing my place
I keep circling around the fires of my past
And I see your face
I just see your face
All the little ways I try to keep myself on track
Doing everything to keep the memories from coming back

The flowers just don’t smell as sweet
The seasons just don’t feel complete
And music just does not sound the same
As when you use to sing my name
I miss the way the world use to look to me
Oh, how it used to be
When I was yours

Hey
These days I listen very closely to my heart
I can’t deny it anymore
I keep listening for the missing part
What am I looking for?
Who am I looking for?

All the little ways of yours that now are part of me
Honey, I want the rest of you
You're the missing link

And flowers just don't smell as sweet
The seasons just don't feel complete
And music just does not sound the same
As when you use to sing my name
I miss the way the world use to look to me
Oh, how it used to be
When I was yours

I don't remember now
Just why I let you go
Or why you let me let you walk away
Lovers spread their wings and fly and circle back again
Come on back again

The flowers just don't smell as sweet
The seasons just don't feel complete
And music just does not sound the same
As when you use to sing my name
I miss the way the world use to look to me
Oh, how it used to be
When I was yours
Oh, how it used to be
When I was yours
