

“You Got Away” Lyrics

Music and Lyrics by Jean Louis Marcel Pedat aka Jay Elle (ASCAP)

You got away with murder
Got away taking the snow out of my winter
Got away biting off the hand that was feeding you
Got away leaving me on a church step as if I were two
But I really wouldn't have stopped you

You got away with a gold rush fever
Got away almost like a real king killer
Got away like a so-so romantic adventure
Got away taking fool's gold out of a fool's soul
I gladly would have given it to you

Just so cool
But not all lovers are losers
Can't help thinking baby
You just did me the biggest favor

Got a way like a blind tiger
Got away now you can't even catch a sick old lover
Got away with a one way ticket to Neptune
Got away with blood diamonds and fire pearls
I really wouldn't have stopped you

Since you're gone I feel so lucky

I'm a compulsive gambler
Missing you, forgetting you
Giving you up like Barbados Dollars
You fell through a needle's eye
I'm just sorry if anything
It wasn't me who pushed you in Better now, better now than never

You got away with murder
Got away taking the snow out of my winter
Got away biting off the hand that was feeding you
Got away leaving me on a church step as if I were two
But I really wouldn't have stopped you

You got away with murder
Got away
You got away
You got away with murder
Got away
You got away
You got away with murder
Got away
You got away
